“These two really know what they are talking about.” – Publishers Weekly

He Said Beer, She Said Wine

He Said Beer, She Said Wine (DK Publishing; April 2008; Hardcover; $25) is the first fully illustrated book to give in-depth instruction on how to pair beer and wine with a variety of delicious foods.

Dogfish Head brewery founder Sam Calagione and renowned sommelier Marnie Old cut through the many misconceptions and caveats that come along with making great food and beverage pairings. Sam and Marnie frame the great drink debate, making a case for their beverage of choice, and the result is a fun, educational and revealing look at how what we drink can bring out the best in our food.

Inside you’ll find:

- The history and evolution of beer and wine
- Insightful primers on how to taste beverages with all senses
- Specific pairings for everything from sirloin to sushi, foie gras to French fries
- Dinner party recipes and sumptuous beverage pairings to debate with friends at home
- Wine and beer glossaries and online resources

Marnie Old is one of the country’s highest profile sommeliers and wine educators and Director of Wine Studies for the French Culinary Institute at Manhattan's International Culinary Center. Known for her common-sense approach and tireless enthusiasm, Marnie has taught award winning wine classes since 1997 and served as the founding education chair of the American Sommelier Association. In October 2001, Marnie launched her independent consulting venture, Old Wines LLC, and has since designed many of Philadelphia and New York’s most dynamic wine lists.

Sam Calagione is the founder and owner of Dogfish Head, one of America's fastest-growing craft breweries. Dogfish Head specializes in full-flavored beers meant to be enjoyed with food. Each year, over a million six-packs of Dogfish Head's "off-centered ales" are sold throughout the country. Sam was recently named the Small Business Administration's entrepreneur of the year and sits on the Board of Directors for The Brewer’s Association and the Delaware Restaurant Association.
